Phase-out of Student fare discounts

Student fare discounts are proposed to be phased out. Under the proposal:

- Beginning September 2010, the full-fare student discount would be discontinued. All students eligible for discounted fare would be charged half-fare for all trips using Student MetroCards.
- Beginning September 2011, the remaining half-fare discount would be eliminated. Students would be charged full fare for all trips.

MTA is proposing this action because it can no longer afford to subsidize this program, which costs $214 million per year.
